SPECIAL CARE

Due to the fragility of certain materials, kindly wear the dancewear garments carrying lace and stretch tulle with great care. Wash by hand in a delicate way. The brand will not be liable for any damages caused by hard or excessive movements made during the usage of the garment.

MASH AND CARE

Keeping your Ballet Rosa products in good shape depends solely on your care. Each material has different quality standards. We suggest you respect the wash care labels and the following care instructions:

Hand wash in cold water Use mild detergent Do not iron Do not tumble dry Allow to dry flat Attention: intense sweating combined with the high temperature of the body over long periods could have negative effects and cause discoloration.

Color references are merely informative. Colors may vary slightly depending on material and dying batch.

MADEIN

The textile and clothing sector in Europe has been subject to a series of radical transformations over the decades, due to a combination of technological changes, evolution of production costs, the emergence of important international competitors and the elimination of imports quotas after 2004.

In response to competitive challenges, the textile and clothing industry in Europe has undertaken a lengthy process of restructuring, modernisation and technological progress.

Companies have improved their competitiveness by substantially reducing or ceasing mass production and simple "commodity" products, and concentrating instead on a wider variety of products with a higher value-added. Moreover, European producers are world leaders in markets for technical/industrial textiles as well as for high quality garments with a high design content.

European products generally have a positive quality mark-up. Equally the EU industry has a leading role in the development of new products, such as technical textiles. These trends towards higher value-added products need to be continued and accelerated in order to strengthen and develop the textile and clothing sector competitiveness.

Ballet Rosa is proud to use only European-made technical materials whilst manufacturing locally all its creations. We still manufacture by hand and all our employees benefit socially from the company's growth and success. Our pledge is to continue to protect the jobs and the creativity of Europe, contributing to a balanced and sustainable environment.
